ROMULUS RIGGS,

AT his office, next doo below Crawford's tavern, Bridge-st Georgetown, will exchange all kinds of Bank Notes on the most reasonable terms.—All persons who may have notes on the banks of North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, would do well to call on him, as he is largely in the purchase of that kind of money, and will take it on the most reasonable terms.—Persons travelling to the Western Country may at all times get the Bank Notes of the Western Banks at a fair discount, by calling at his Office. For the information of all persons throughout the U. States, R. DISTRESSING FIRE.

A dreadful fire happened in this place last night, between 9 and 10 o'clock. A small grocery store on Telfair's wharf, occupied by J. M. Carter, was discovered to be on fire. Alarm was given by the beat of drums and the ringging of the bells—and the inhabitants repaired very spiritedly to the place of danger. The flames soon spread to the adjoining houses, which consisted of wooden buildings, and raged with uncontrolable fury. Very little rain having fallen for the last month, the houses caught like tinder. The fire spread along on the river from Whitaker to Bernard street—which, in its progress, consumed all the store-houses on Telfair's and Jones' wharves. Heaven only knows where the devouring element would have stopped, had it not been for Bolton's fire proof range at the east, and Taylor's at the west end of the city. The wind, which had blown from S. S. W. with violence the whole day, seemed to rise in its strength as the flames progressed. The angry element had obtained completely the ascendency. Against its devouring career, human efforts could avail but little. It appeared evident that the whole buildings on the river, from Gray & Pinder's to Nicholas Dobson & Hills, must be destroyed. It was nearly eleven o'clock, when the fury of the flames began somewhat to abate. Contrary to general expectation, the wooden store on Anderson's wharf was saved. Between this and Bolton's wharf all is desolate and waste; with a large quantity of merchandize and produce, the property of different persons are destroyed. The loss of property on this occasion, is estimated, as nearly as can be ascertained, at about one hundred and fifty thousand dollars! The following is a list of the principal sufferers:

Nicholas, Dobson & Hills, Homes Tupper, William Gibbons, Edes & Potter, A. R. Savage, tDavid Hill & Co. Rea & Butler, Hall & Hoye, H. S. Slocum, E. S. Kempson & Co, William Southmaid, J. R. Gifford, Wessels & Watson, T. C. Hayward & Co. J. B. Creamer, A. B. Fannin, Andrew G. Semmes, Gray & Pinder, Etates N. W. Jones, Estate Edward Telfair.

A greater part of the property lost was insured. In one of the houses consumed there were between twenty five and thirty kegs of gunpowder which exploded; and the blazing fragments scattered in every direction! The shock was so severe as to burst open the doors and windows of stores situate some distance from the spot—and the window glasses of several dwelling houses were broken. We hope that the police will enforce the ordinance against every person who had or may have gunpowder in their stores. There is no knowing the destruction that may be committed, by this flagrant outrage of the law—Offenders ought to be punished It affords us great pleasure to state, that no individuals received any material injury from the explosion—nor have we heard of but one person having lost his life—a seaman who unfortunately fell into the river and was drowned. Fortunately there was a sufficiency of water at the wharves to admit the hauling out the shipping, otherwise many vessels must inevitably have been burnt. The sloop Niagara was on fire at one time, but the flames were arrested. The ships lying at the wharves sustained some little injury in their spars and rigging.—Among them were the Elizabeth Wilson, Sterling, Hitty, Sally-Ann, General A. Jackson, Levant, &c. Great and well grounded complaints are made by the citizens against those idle and useless men and boys, who, during the raging of the fire, when the scene should rouse the most indolent disposition, are in the habit of approaching it on horse back, while others stand with folded arms looking on with indifference at those active citizens who are exerting themselves in defence of the lives and property of their fellow citizens. We do not know whether there is an ordinance on this subject; if there is, it should be rigidly enforced by the military who are on duty—if not, it is essentially necessary that this practice should be prohibited by law.

Several of the sufferers are in the humble walks of life, many of whom have been deprived by this awful calamity, of their little all.

Boston, March 19.

A letter from a respectable gentleman in Antigua, to his friends in this town, says, a motion is to be made in the House of Assembly there, to open a correspondence with the other colonies, for the purpose of uniting in petitioning the prince regent to remove the 4 1-2 per cent duties on exports, and at the same time saying that it is impossible for the planters to comply with the humane regulations expected of them, in support of the black population, from the wants of supplies from America, and praying for a free trade with them.

From the Norfolk Beacon, March 24.

To the usual friendly and polite attention of an esteemed correspondent at St. George's Bermuda, we are indebted for the Hamilton and St. George's Gazette of 13th and 20th ult. received by the Sally, Capt. Crawford—From the latter date we make the following summary, being the only articles which they furnish worth extracting:

Hamilton, Feb. 20.

The American Schooner Betsey, Turner, 11 days from New-York, bound to Port au Prince, St. Domingo, ran on the rocks, off the West End of these Islands, on Thursday night last, in a gale. The Somerset boats were extremely active; and by the enterprise thus seasonably exerted the vessel was conducted to a safe anchorage in Mangrove-bay yesterday morning. Her cargo consisted partly of beef, pork, soap and candles.

A Spanish Schooner from Africa bound to Havanna, with about 100 slaves on board, was wrecked on one of the Bahamas, on the 27th Dec. last. The Master, three of the crew, and 14 slaves, escaped the wreck—the others perished.

Rear-Admiral GRIFFITH, it is said, is coming out upon this station in the Newcastle, 60, Captain Townshend; Lieut. Walker, Flag-Lieutenant.

The crater of the Souffriere Mountain, in the Island of St. Vincent, we ascertain, has been filled with water. The centre has about 16 fathoms of that fluid, which appears by the latest accounts o be still rising, and was of a sulphuric taste, emitting a strong smell.

A great mortality, we are sorry to learn, has lately taken place among the troops in the garrison of Tobago.

An order in council has been issued, prohibiting the exportation from England, of gun-powder, arms or ammunition to Africa the West-Indies, or any part of the continent of America, except with permission—to continue for 6 months from the 30th November.

A Nassau (New-Providence) paper of the 18th November, makes the following observations upon the subject of their endeavors to obtain the privilege of free intercourse with the United States:—"It must afford much satisfaction to the inhabitants of the colony to learn that it is again in agitation, andthat strenuous endeavors are now used as well by the merchants interested in its commerce as by those concerned in that of Jamaica, to have this Island made a depot for a trade with the United States. We have seen a copy of a memorial that has been presented to the Lords of the Privy Council for the consideration of matters of Trade in the Plantations, on the above subject, in which the conveniencies and benefits to Jamaica from such a measure are particularly stated. Private letters encourage the hope that the object will be attained; but it may be feared that unless it be so in a permanent way, no advantage will be derived from it, the government of the United States being apparently determined to accord with no temporary measures, as has been evinced with respect to the Free Ports of Nova Scotia. The Jamaica interest having made itself a party in the application, we may now indulge the hope of its meeting serious attention and final success."

Communicated for the Federal Republican.

PROCLAMATION.

Whereas, the captain of the Venezuelan brig of war Orinoco, captain Vincient de Bauile has not remained within the limits in which she had orders to cruise; and contrary to my express orders has committed outrages on vessels belonging to nations friendly to the republic; thereby violating the regulations of our navy, which imposes the pain of death on the perpetrators of such crimes.

I therefore do declare by these presents, the said captain Vincent de Bauile a pirate and an outlaw; and order and command all captains of ships of the republic to arrest and detain the said pirate, and conduct him to this port in safety, and properly secured, in order that he may have a trial, and suffer such punishment as his infamous conduct merits; and I also request all commanders of friendly ships of war to arrest said pirate, and to have him sent to this port for the above mentioned purpose.

Signed LUIS BRION.

Liberty! Independance! Or death!

We have just received one or two of the papers (Haytian) to which this formidable motto is prefixed. There is nothing very momentous. The "high dignitaries" at "Sans Souci"—the palace of the Henrys, are—as well as could be expected, &c.

On the 4th of January, the birth day of their independence (the sturdy brat is now in her seventh year) was celebrated with becoming solemnities; and then the following oath was sworn by the multitude, troops and the grandees:

"We swear to the whole universe—to posterity—to ourselves—to abandon France—to perish, rather than breath under her dominions, to battle till our last breath for the independence of our country!"

What a people! Say what we will of blacks, there is nothing like this in the history of whites. A whole nation—at the same moment—renewing its vows with the most impassioned enthusiasm—at the altar of liberty. It resembles the Russian battle-anthem, with which their infantry used to give the charge. A whole army—at a brisk trot, would be heard thundering out a psalm! It is a pity such a practice is discontinued. The Turks still shout Alla! Alla! as the Spaniards used to praise God! And St. Iago! Such music would be more terrible than all the horns, drums and trumpets in the world, unless it were a trumpet in the skies. It is so like the war music of Joshua, or the Maccabees.

This oath must have produced a prodigious effect. Who would not have joined it—unanimously—black or white, if he had been present?

A proclamation, much in the manner of European courts, full of declamation and stuff, was issued at the same time, signed by the royal fist, and countersigned count Limonde! We should translate it count Punch.

Communicated for the Philadelphia Gazette.

Abtract of a letter from St. Petersburg, Russia, dated Oct. 15, 1818, to a merchant in this city.

"The annexed note of exports for the United States this year, may now be considered complete, as there is not an American vessel at Cronstadt, and the season is too far advanced to expect any more.

ALEXANDRIA:
MONDAY, MARCH 29, 1819.

Errata.—In the Essay, signed Dramaticus, published in our paper of Thursday last, 4th column, 11th line from the bottom, for "effectual," read ineffectual.

It is said of Lopez de Vega (the Shakspear of Spain) that he was once asked by the bishop of Bellero to explain one of his sonnets, which the bishop said he had often read, but never understood. Lopez took up the sonnet; and after reading it over and over several times, frankly acknowledged that he did not understand it himself.

Campbell, who is perhaps the most fastidious of all poets, scarcely excepting Gray himself, in judging of and correcting his own works, could yet overlook a plagiarism of his own introduction, which it would seem scarcely possible for any reader of Blair's poetry to have cursorily glanced at without instantly detecting.

"Like those of angels, few, and far between." Blair's "Grave."

"Like angel visits, few and far between." Campbell's "Pleasures of Hope."

No one admires Campbell more than I do, and therefore this lamentable oversight of his gives me the more regret.

The following just, and beautiful reflection may be found in the life of that noble and interesting character, lord Herbert of Cherbury—"every body loves the virtuous, whereas the vicious scarce love one another."

The overstrained, fastidious delicacy which is at this time in fashion in the old country, and still more in this, and which has been said to be the certain diagnostic of a vicious age, may, for aught any one can tell to the contrary, by lapse of time and fluctuation of fashion, disappear and give way to something exactly the reverse of it. He who reads Homer with the critical attention due to that first of poets, will meet with many things to excite his astonishment at the change that has taken place in the world since the fall of Troy. A dandy now piques himself upon the soft piano tone of his voice, and swears "pon honour," in the tender treble of a Miss of fifteen—but Homer describes the dandies of his day as men illustrious for loud, coarse voices—Menalaus for instance, be distinguishes by the epithet of Boen Agathos, 'loud of voice—as a kind of thundering roarer, who made as great a noise when he spoke, as the boatswain of a man of war with his speaking trumpet in a gale of wind—and he has dignified Ajax, Diomed, and above all, Stentor, with the same elegant natural accomplishment. It is fortunate that nature has secured us from any annoyance of that kind from our dandies, bloods and coxcombs of the present day—for, let fashion dictate what it may, their pretty shrill pipes, muffled up in yards of muslin, can never reach formidable vociferation even with the aid of a trumpet. The belles of Homer's time, too, seem to have been happy matches for the beaux,—for the princess whose beauty set Troy in a flame, being smitten with remorse, reviles herself in terms, the bare thoughts of which would make our divine creatures fall into hysterics—when in petulent self reproach for the slip she had made, she calls herself a she dog—or, turned into plain English, says, "b——that I am, &c. Gibbon says of Pope's Homer, that it has every merit but resemblance to the original. And surely nothing can be more different than the impressions a reader receives from the great original on the one hand, and the ingenious translation on the other; and I cannot but think that it would be fortunate for the male part of our youth, if they would read Homer in the original, and by imbibing a little of the robust spirit of the great men and heroes in that book, in which kings and princes and generals knock down oxen, and with their own hands cut up the meat, blow up the fires and broil their own griskin upon the coals, instead of learning from London and Parisian prints and Baltimore taylors, stay makers and dealers in frippery, to corset and lace themselves into hermaphroditism;—they might thus at least learn the fashion to be men, instead of crawling along between heaven and earth, bloodless animals called dandies,—animated mummies—miserable semivirile bipers, better qualified to be the guards and servitors of a Turkish seraglio, than citizens of a great, vigorous and warlike nation like the United States of America.

COMMUNICATION.

Such citizens as have never had an opportunity of viewing Black Lake, remarkable for its muddy waters, are informed that the same lake may be seen in miniature, near the corner of Pitt and Queen streets, Alexandria.

It is suggested to the consideration of the citizens whether a canal, constructed under the direction of the superintendant of police, connecting the said miniature lake with the Potomac, would not be a work of great public utility, more particularly to those who reside in its vicinity.

Notice,

To Wheelwrights, Blacksmiths, Tanners, Harness-Makers, Saddlers, Hatters, &c.

BELIEVING as I do, that PROVIDENCE, at Fairfax Court-House, would be a suitable situation for mechanics of the above description, I offer to such, lots in that village for sale, on ground rent for ever—will build and furnish suitable houses and rent to them, or furnish brick to them to build with; and invite any who feel disposed to settle there, for the purpose of carrying on their respective trades to advantage, to come and view the situation. It is a very public place, the centre of the county, where the superior and county courts are held. The Little River Turnpike Road passes through this little town from Alexandria westward, and where all the public meetings for the county, &c. are held; and where trades of the aforesaid description being carried on, would meet with great encouragement, and be a public convenience to the country around. No situation can be more healthy—good water, and fire wood cheap. Mechanics of the above description must generally depend on the country people, farmers, &c. to be their customers. Here they would be in a convenient situation for all the purposes. I invite a call, and view for themselves. I would also furnish lots adjacent, from one to five acres each, for cultivation, pasture, &c. on moderate terms; all of which can be shown, and terms made known, on application to RICH'D. Gunston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaister acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles, on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain: being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary outhouse, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvass backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensels and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.

September 4 GEORGE MASON.

Valuable Property for Sale.

THE subscriber is desirous of selling a handsomely situated farm, on Hunting creek, in Fairfax county Virginia, adjoining the Mount Vernon estate and the lands of general Thomson Mason, four miles from Alexandria, containing about 240 acres, 80 of which are in wood—40 to 50 in thriving meadow of clover and timothy—a part of the residue recently seeded with wheat and rye, and clover, last spring—the whole enclosed with a new post and rail fence.—The improvements are, a comfortable and convenient frame dwelling house and kitchen, smoke house, poultry house, granary and stables.—There is on this place a rich and productive garden, and a large body of marsh meadow, from which may be saved annually 100 tons of hay, nearly as nutricious as the best timothy or clover.—With the farm would be sold a number of very valuable horses, cows and sheep; waggon, carts, and a variety of farming utensils and household and kitchen furniture; corn, oats and rye, and 40 tons hay. Also, adjoining the one above described, a farm containing 160 acres, recently enclosed, on which is a brick house, which a trifling expense would render comfortable. The soil is excellent, and a considerable part might be easily converted into meadow,—it would be sold with the other or separately. Also, a number of valuable servants, male and female. To prevent unnecessary application, he would observe, that they will only be sold to persons residing in the District or its vicinity, and not to be carried from it. The subscriber will also sell the greater part of his household furniture, which is new and handsome. For terms of all or any part of the above property, apply to NOBLET HERBERT, esq. or
